

Accessibility statement - Workinginsweden.se

This website is run by Swedish Institute. We want as many people as possible to be able to use this website, and this document describes how Workinginsweden.se complies with the accessibility regulations, any known accessibility issues, and how you can report problems so that we can fix them.

How accessible is Workinginsweden.se?

We are aware that some parts of this website aren't fully accessible. See the section on non-accessible content below for more information.

How we tested this website

We perform continuous internal and external testing of Workinginsweden.se. The last assessment was made on 8 June 2020.

Technical information about this website's accessibility

This website is mainly compliant with the Swedish accessibility regulations and WCAG 2.1 level AA. Non-compliant content is listed below.

General issues

- There are some minor HTML validation errors and warnings. We are currently working on fixing this for future updates.
- Some link purposes are too generic. We are currently working on fixing this for future updates.

Issues with usage without vision (blindness)

- Some form elements are missing information, structure and relationships. We are currently working on fixing this for future updates.
- Some labels are missing (for links and elements). We are currently working on fixing this for future updates.

Issues with usage with visual impairment (including colour blindness)

- Some hyperlinks only use color as a visual cue (making them difficult to distinguish from the rest of the text). We are currently working on fixing this for future updates.

- The website menu can be difficult to see when using browser zoom on small screens. We are currently working on fixing this for future updates.

Issues with usage with physical impairment

- Some elements are missing focus indicators. We are currently working on fixing this for future updates.

What to do if you can't access parts of this website?

If you need content from this website that is not accessible for you, but is not within the scope of the accessibility regulations as described above, please contact us at si@si.se and tell us:

- the web address (URL) of the content
- your name and email address
- the format you need

Reporting accessibility problems with this website

As the website will no longer exist after December 31st 2020 no improvements will be made to the requirements of the accessibility regulations that aren't met on this site. However if you are in need to contact us regarding any technical matters please contact us at websupport@si.se.

Enforcement procedure

The Agency for Digital Government is responsible for enforcing the accessibility regulations. If you're not happy with how we respond to your complaint, contact the Agency for Digital Government to lodge a complaint.

The statement was last updated on June 25th 2020.